73 CABINS

The deluxe M.S. KAZAN, formerly the M.S. CEZANNE II, is the finest ship to cruise the lakes and rivers of Russia. The French-designed M.S. CÉZANNE II was introduced in 1999 and brought a new level of comfort and elegance to European river cruising, as it does now along the waterways of Russia.

The tastefully appointed outside cabins are spacious (at least 162 sq. feet) by river ship standards, each with two twin beds, private marble and teak bathroom facilities, individual climate control, telephone, satellite television, writing desk, large closet and safe.

Meals are served at a single seating in the comfortable Tchaikovsky Restaurant and feature a variety of regional and international specialties prepared by the ship's Austrian chef from provisions imported from Western Europe.

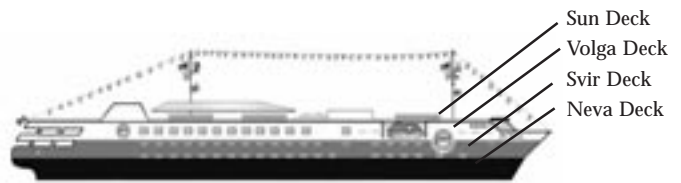

Ship public areas include the attractive Stravinsky Lounge and bar, an ideal setting for relaxation and lecture presentations, and the more intimate Pushkin Lounge. There is also a library; small boutique; swimming pool; and sun deck with bar service, fitness room, Jacuzzi and jogging track. The ship is equipped with an elevator, a rarity among river ships, and a medical clinic staffed by a full-time doctor.

The Austrian-managed M.S. KAZAN's skilled international crew provides a high level of professional and attentive service.
